EAST COAST
Plumbing and Gas Limited
eastcoastplumbingandgas.co.nz

This year's Handy Trades Booklet is packed with useful information about who to contact for all those jobs needed for both the interior and exterior of your home or property, whether it's in town or the country.

Notably, this year we've seen many businesses expanding their services to address the challenges of climate change, offering sensible and sustainable solutions.

We hope you'll keep this handy reference booklet nearby, as you never know when you might need to replace curtains, find a painter or paperhanger, replace a window, seek legal services, repair your vehicle, or call on a plumber, builder, or contractor. You'll find it an excellent guide for both the small and large jobs that arise around your home or property.

Hawke's Bay boasts a vibrant building and construction industry, rich with innovation and expertise that is second to none. It's home to some of the country's best and most skilled tradespeople. Remember that builders and related professionals are often booked months in advance, so it's wise to plan any major projects well ahead of time.

It's not just in times of emergency that we rely on skilled tradespeople—there are always projects to tackle, from home and garden renovations to vehicle servicing and repairs. You'll find everything you need right here in this trade directory.

All our advertisers have the knowledge and experience to work with our unique climatic conditions, ensuring their workmanship stands the test of time and protects our most important investments—our homes and properties.

If you contact any of our advertisers, please mention that you saw their advertisement in the 2026 Trades Booklet.

Building or Renovating?

Your home isn't just a roof over your head; it's one of the biggest investments you'll ever make.

Whether you're buying, building, or giving your current place a serious makeover, the journey should feel exciting, not overwhelming.

In recent years, getting into the property market hasn't been easy. That's why more people are thinking creatively, custom builds, clever renovations, and homes that truly reflect their personality. Building from scratch is like creating your own masterpiece. You get to choose the layout, the vibe, and all those minute details that make a house feel like your home. Want a kitchen that doubles as a social hub? Or a bathroom that feels like a spa? Go for it! And if you bring an architect on board, you'll add that extra layer of creativity and wow factor.

Of course, it's not all sunshine and Pinterest boards. Building a home takes patience, planning, and the right team. Choosing a reputable builder is non-negotiable. Look for builders who are members of the Master Builders Association because that means you'll get the Master Build 10-Year Guarantee, the ultimate peace of mind.

Expect to see your plans in 3D concept; it's easier than squinting at flat blueprints. And your builder should handle all the boring stuff like permits and consents. They'll also bring in trusted tradies and keep standards sky-high, so you don't have to stress.

Need inspiration? Dive into Instagram and Pinterest for ideas, chat with an architect about your vision, hit up home shows for the latest trends, and tour local show homes to see quality in real life. The more you explore, the clearer your dream becomes.

Tiny Homes are popular

Tiny homes are becoming a real option for first home buyers, people who want to downsize, grandparents who wish to live near family, people who want to live off-grid, holiday makers and as an extra income option.

As a rule of thumb, a tiny home is generally less than 50m<sup>2</sup>. There are several different types of tiny homes, ranging from converted shipping containers, kitset, bespoke designs or even trailer homes.

Things you must consider are: Less living and storage space. A tiny house doesn't have room for a full-sized luxury kitchen or bathroom. You will have limited entertaining capability, but decking helps alleviate some of those problems. You will also need to check zoning rules and council regulations.

If you are considering a tiny home on wheels, it affords you a great deal of flexibility in where you choose to lay your head at night. An advantage of living in a tiny home is that you can relocate with your home. Who wouldn't like the benefits of moving the place you call home to a new spot? A new sunrise. New terrain and even in some cases new neighbours!

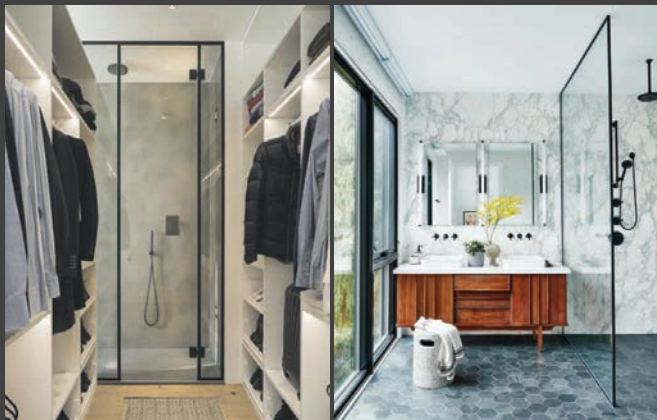

If you are considering building or buying a tiny house, why don't you have a few weekends away in one? You will soon learn if tiny living is going to work for you!

Several companies are building tiny homes, so the options for design and materials are varied. Personal preference will come into the decision in a lot of cases, so hit the websites of tiny home builders, ask for references, talk to people who have built a tiny house, and before you know it, you will be living in your very own tiny home!

SUSTAINABILITY from your clothes to your home

Sustainable living is no longer just a trend; it's becoming a necessity.

More and more people are adopting habits such as recycling, composting, reducing plastic use, reusing items, and cutting down on food waste. These small yet significant changes are becoming part of everyday life.

New Zealand has committed to reaching net-zero carbon emissions by 2050.

There are many simple steps we can take to reduce our environmental impact: Avoid wasting energy, minimise landfill waste, we all need to grow more food in our own gardens, take shorter showers, turn off lights in empty rooms, conserve water, and fix leaks promptly.

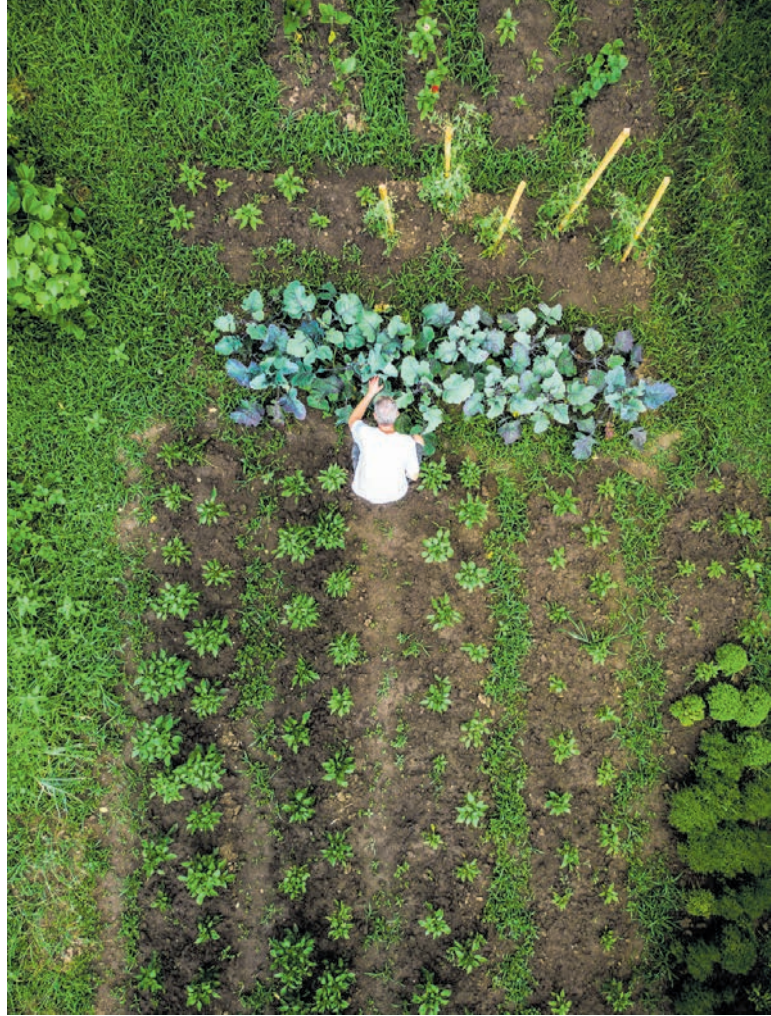

Hot water usage, for instance, contributes significantly to household power bills; using more water-efficient products, such as modern dishwashers, can make a real difference. Plus, replace old lightbulbs for more efficient LED ones.

To cut carbon emissions, why not try riding a bike or walking when possible or taking public transport?

Many modern homes are now being designed with sustainability in mind, from eco-conscious construction materials and double glazing to solar power systems, rainwater collection, and composting setups.

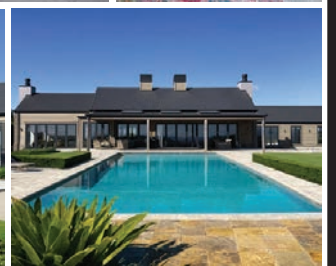

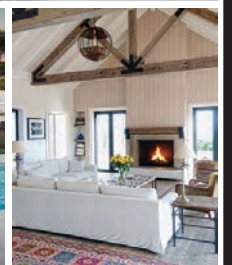

Many families are choosing to downsize into tiny homes, embracing a simpler lifestyle with less clutter and more time for what really matters.

ELECTRICAL

Finding Yourself an Electrician

One of the most important professionals to have on your side is a good electrician. But how do you know who to trust when sparks start flying (literally)?

First things first, make sure your electrician is properly qualified and registered to work in your region. It's not just about ticking boxes; it's about keeping your home safe and making sure the job is done right. While you're at it, check that they have public liability insurance.

Not every electrician specialises in the same kind of work, so whether you're rewiring an old house, installing new lighting, or upgrading your switchboard, find someone who's done it before, and done it well.

Don't be shy about asking for reviews or photos of their previous work. Plus, you'll get a sense of their style and attention to detail. A great electrician isn't just someone who wires things up and disappears. They can offer advice, suggest practical solutions, and help you make smart choices for your home.

Good communication makes everything easier. Notice if they reply to your calls or emails promptly, show up when they say they will, and explain things in a way that actually makes sense.

And finally, a true professional doesn't just finish the job; they finish it well. They'll work to national safety standards, tidy up after themselves, and leave the site as clean (or cleaner!) than they found it.

So, when you're on the hunt for an electrician, look for someone skilled, reliable, and easy to work with. Because when the lights flicker back on and everything's running smoothly, you'll be glad you did your homework.

Have you really thought about air conditioning?

Air conditioning isn't just about staying cool on a hot day.

It can actually help improve the air you breathe by circulating and filtering it, removing pollutants and even mold. That's a big plus for anyone who suffers from allergies or asthma because it reduces the irritants that can trigger an attack. Of course, this only works if you keep your system clean and change the filters regularly.

Having a home that's comfortable all year round is something most of us want, so it's worth taking the time to figure out what will suit your space and lifestyle best. There's a huge range of heating and cooling options out there, no matter what climate you live in. Your choice will often come down to the size of your home and the areas you want to heat or cool. Then there are other things to think about, like energy ratings, whether you want a split system or a multi-system, and even the colour and design. The market is always changing, so the easiest way to start is by booking a home assessment. Talking to someone who can explain everything in plain language makes the whole process a lot less overwhelming.

Is it time to think about how you will stay cool and comfortable this Summer?

Whether it's your home sanctuary or a bustling business environment, we cater to all your cooling needs.

Our solutions are tailored to fit spaces of any size, ensuring everyone enjoys a refreshing atmosphere.

EXPERTS/MISC

Finding an Expert Can Save You Dollars

Have you ever tried grouting and ended up with a mess that looked like a science experiment gone wrong?

Or attempted to fix a grandfather clock, steam clean a rug, build a fence, lay lino, tile the bathroom, or, the ultimate challenge, wallpapering? Some jobs seem simple until you're knee-deep in glue and frustration.

The truth is, calling in a professional can often save time, stress and money. They know what they're doing, have the right tools, and can usually finish the job in half the time it would take you. Sometimes, DIY ends up costing more when mistakes need fixing.

Start by asking friends or neighbours for recommendations. Seeing the work they've had done is even better, as it gives you confidence in the person's skills. Check if they belong to a trade association or have references and always clarify costs and guarantees upfront.

Clear communication is key. Explain exactly what you want and get it in writing, what's included, how long it will take, and what materials will be used. A little planning goes a long way.

So, before you dive into a tricky job, consider whether an expert might be the smarter choice. It could save you dollars and a whole lot of drama.

Taking a proactive choice for your health

Maintaining good health involves a combination of self-care, preventive measures, and regular check-ups. Visiting various health professionals can help keep your body in top condition can certainly contribute to your overall health:

Dentist:

Regular dental check-ups help prevent cavities, gum disease, and other oral health issues. Dentists can detect early signs of health problems like diabetes or heart disease based on oral health. Cleaning helps remove plaque, preventing tooth decay. Visit your dentist every 6 months for check-ups and cleanings. Brush twice a day and floss daily.

Doctor (General Practitioner/Physician)

A primary care doctor helps with overall health, screenings, and disease prevention.

Routine physical exams can catch early warning signs of chronic conditions (like hypertension, cholesterol, diabetes, etc.). Doctors offer vaccinations, blood tests, and guidance on managing existing conditions.

Schedule an annual check-up to monitor general health. Don't hesitate to visit for health concerns or preventive advice.

Massage Therapy

Massage therapy helps with muscle tension, pain relief, and relaxation. Regular massages can reduce stress, alleviate muscular discomfort, and promote better blood circulation. It also improves flexibility and can relieve chronic conditions such as lower back pain or headaches.

Consider monthly sessions or when you feel tightness or stress. Let the massage therapist know any areas of discomfort.

Exercise Classes

Regular exercise is key to staying fit and maintaining a healthy body weight. It boosts cardiovascular health, improves muscle strength, and increases flexibility. It can reduce the risk of chronic diseases like diabetes, heart disease, and obesity. Group fitness classes can also provide motivation and social benefits. Try different classes like yoga, Pilates, cycling, or strength training. Consistency is key—aim for at least 3–4 sessions per week.

Ear Specialist

Ear specialists assess hearing, balance, and other ear-related issues.

Regular visits to an audiologist or ENT (ear, nose, and throat doctor) can help detect hearing loss early, manage ear infections, and address balance issues. It's crucial to get hearing checks if you're exposed to loud noises or notice hearing changes. See an ear specialist if you experience symptoms like hearing loss, ringing in the ears, or dizziness. Annual hearing tests are a good idea, especially as you age.

General Tips for Maintaining Health

We need to stay hydrated and eat a balanced diet rich in vitamins, minerals, and fibre. Make sure you get enough sleep (7-9 hours a night) to support immune function and overall well-being.

Manage stress through mindfulness, meditation, or relaxation techniques or even a long relaxing soak in the bath. Avoid smoking and limit alcohol consumption to reduce health risks.

Regular visits to these health professionals, combined with healthy habits, ensure you're taking a proactive approach to maintaining your overall health.

Keeping Our Pets Safe

Our pets depend on us to keep them safe and comfortable throughout the year. Whether in the heat of summer or the chill of winter, a few precautions can help protect their health and happiness.

Before the heat of the day, exercise your pet early in the morning or later in the evening when temperatures are cooler. This reduces the risk of overheating. In winter, shorter walks and a warm coat are advisable for small, short-haired, or older dogs.

Never leave your dog unattended in a car, even for a short time. On warm days, temperatures inside vehicles can rise dangerously fast, leading to heatstroke or worse. If your journey does not involve your pet, it is safest to leave them at home.

When travelling with pets, always restrain them securely. Unrestrained animals can distract drivers and cause accidents. Ensure your pet wears identification tags and has a microchip, as these greatly increase the chances of being reunited if they go missing.

During summer barbecues, avoid feeding pets human food. Items such as grapes, onions, chocolate, and raisins can be toxic to your pet.

Property services

Property services can be a lifesaver when life gets hectic.

Maybe you're moving house, feeling under the weather, or just juggling a schedule that leaves little time for chores. Whatever the reason, these businesses can take the stress out of keeping your home looking its best, so you can focus on the things that really matter.

Let's be honest, cleaning the outside of your home is nobody's favourite job. But if you want your paintwork, roof, and cladding to last, it's something that needs attention at least once a year. The trick is to start at the top and work your way down. That way, anything that falls can be tidied up later.

The roof is a good place to begin. Algae, mould, and fungus love to make themselves at home up there, and over time, they can weaken tiles and iron. Regular maintenance keeps this from turning into a big headache.

Next up, the gutters. Clearing them out is not for the faint-hearted—especially if you're elderly or unsteady on your feet. Professionals have the gear and the know-how to do this safely, and it's worth every cent.

Then there's the exterior cladding. A proper clean can add years to your paintwork and keep your home looking fresh. And don't forget the windows. If you live on a dusty road, you might wonder if it's even worth cleaning them, but sparkling windows make a world of difference. Treat yourself—make it a birthday or Mother's Day gift. You'll love the view.

And finally, the garden. A neat lawn and tidy beds add instant value and charm to your home. Hiring someone to mow regularly means no mower storage, no petrol hassles, and no servicing headaches, just a beautiful lawn without lifting a finger.

GLAZING

Having double glazing in your home can have an influence on both your health and your comfort.

Double glazing is a window with two panes of glass separated by a layer of insulating gas. It is like having a cushion of insulation between the two panes. The chilly air cannot reach the interior pane of glass, meaning it prevents condensation from forming. This construction provides such benefits as reduced noise control, reduced condensation, as well as reduced heat transfer, which results in better energy efficiency and lower power bills.

Having double-glazed windows can reduce your heat loss or gain by up to 30% (some companies advertise this percentage way higher) compared to single-glazed windows. This is noticeable in both winter and summer. You will find that you lose heat through the walls, floor, roof, and air escaping. Double glazing in new homes became compulsory in late 2007 with the aim of increasing the thermal resistance (insulation) performance requirements for housing and to facilitate efficient use of energy.

Double glazing will reduce damage done by the UV rays and will reduce moisture created by condensation that forms on single-glazed windows, plus these windows are much harder to break than single-glazed windows, making it harder for break-ins. Laminated or toughened glass will add another layer of security to your double-glazed windows.

Some homeowners take the plunge and double-glaze either all or some of their single-glazed windows. If you cannot afford to replace all your windows, why not consider the windows on the south side? You will be amazed by the difference it will make to that cold bedroom or bathroom.

Al-Wood Joinery

Licensed dual GLAZE™ Agent

At Al-Wood Joinery we manufacture and install all types of aluminium and timber windows and doors. With a focus on joinery for the renovation market, we are your one stop shop if you are thinking about double glazing your home. Whether you want to retrofit double glazing to your existing windows or install new windows, we have a solution for you.

RETROFIT DOUBLE GLAZING

Double glazing works by trapping air between two panes of glass in an Insulated Glazing Unit (IGU). The trapped air creates a barrier to provide the following benefits:

- Heat retention (warmer in winter)
- Solar heat reduction (cooler in summer)
- Noise reduction
- Helps reduce the amount of condensation that is able to form on the surface of the glass
- Safety & security

Computer support essential

Reliable computer support services are essential in today's technology-driven environment.

When technical issues arise, whether it's a software crash, hardware malfunction, or virus infection, having access to expert assistance ensures problems are resolved quickly, minimising disruption.

Not everyone is confident navigating complex systems, and support professionals offer the knowledge and experience needed to address issues efficiently. They also provide valuable services such as data recovery and backup solutions, protecting important files from accidental loss or malware threats.

Instead of spending hours troubleshooting and becoming increasingly frustrated, users can rely on support teams to deliver timely solutions, saving both time and stress. Regular maintenance, including updates and security checks, helps keep systems running smoothly and prevents future problems.

Additionally, support services can tailor system configurations to suit individual needs, whether basic functionality is required or more advanced setups are necessary. Investing in professional support ensures your technology remains reliable, secure, and aligned with your goals, allowing you to focus on your work without unnecessary interruptions.

Service Your Vehicle with Confidence

Regular maintenance is essential to keep your car, bike, or 4WD running smoothly and safely.

Scheduled servicing not only helps prevent unexpected breakdowns but also extends the life of your vehicle. Many garages now offer convenient text reminders for Warrant of Fitness (WOF) checks and routine services, making it easier to stay on top of your vehicle care.

Modern vehicles are equipped with advanced electronics and diagnostic systems, which require trained professionals to identify and resolve issues accurately. Gone are the days of quick fixes under the bonnet; today's technology demands expertise.

Fortunately, there is a wide range of qualified mechanics and service providers available. From comprehensive servicing and diagnostics to specialised offerings such as tyre and muffler fitting, battery replacement, and audio system installation, you'll find professionals ready to assist. Skilled panel beaters and windscreen repair specialists are also on hand to address those inevitable chips and cracks.

Invest in regular servicing and professional care, because your safety and peace of mind are worth it.

For all your automotive service and repairs, seat belt repairs and installation, fuel injection, servicing, diagnostic engine tuning check, WOF and trip checks.

Flooring: Where Do You Start?

Whether you are building or renovating, the range of flooring options available today can suit any lifestyle and budget.

Tiles are an excellent choice if you have pets. They are easy to clean, cool in summer, and ideal for heavy-duty areas. However, without underfloor heating, tiles can feel cold and lack the warmth of carpet.

Carpet brings comfort and warmth, making it perfect for bedrooms and living spaces. It is soft underfoot and great for children to play on.

Vinyl is extremely durable and cost-effective, offering a stylish look without breaking the budget. It comes in planks, sheets, or tiles, and most options are scratch-resistant, stain-resistant, and waterproof.

Bamboo is a sustainable and eco-friendly option that is also strong and durable. It comes in a variety of shades, requires little maintenance, and is budget friendly.

Rugs are an effortless way to define spaces and add colour and texture to a room. They can complement any flooring type and bring warmth and personality to your décor.

Engineered or laminate wood has become increasingly popular in new builds. It mimics the look and feel of wood, stone, or tile, depending on the style you choose.

Polished concrete offers a stylish and functional surface at an affordable price. It is extremely durable and creates a sleek, modern look.

Real wood flooring is elegant and long-lasting. Although it can be expensive to install, it offers the advantage of being refinished multiple times, giving it a lifespan that few other materials can match.

Cork flooring is warm underfoot and absorbs noise, making it a comfortable and practical choice. It now comes in a variety of colours to suit any décor.

ROOFING

A roof protects your home against the weather, be it rain, sun, or snow and is a vital part of the structure of your house, and one that can sometimes be taken for granted until there's a problem like a leak, and then it becomes an emergency. Like most features of a home, they also need looking after and regular maintenance, as well as being kept rodent-proof. Birds and rats can be the biggest problems if they decide your roof is a wonderful place to build their nest. Rats can eat wiring, and birds can use ducting as a cosy place to raise a family!

A roof should look good and also be functional but checking over a roof is not the sort of job for amateurs. It's dangerous and requires professionals to deal with issues, whether maintenance, re-roofing, repairing, or painting. Roofing contractors will also deal with cleaning, mending broken gutters, and replacing eaves, gutters, and downpipes. If you have clay tiles, they will need to be sprayed on an annual basis to prevent mould and lichen.

Make it a routine to visually inspect your roof often and call the experts if you notice something needs attention. You are better to do this sooner rather than later.

Gutters are unavoidable and require cleaning quite often. While there are various products available to stop leaves from clogging them up, they will still need attention.

Why not take up dancing

Dancing offers a wide range of benefits that extend beyond physical movement.

It is a dynamic form of exercise that enhances cardiovascular health, muscular strength, and flexibility, while also improving coordination and balance. And on top of that, it is fun!

It is a wonderful way of reducing stress, it can elevate your mood, and it can give you a sense of accomplishment, particularly as one masters new techniques or routines.

From a cognitive perspective, dancing stimulates memory and concentration, especially when learning choreography or adapting to various styles. It doesn't matter if you feel you have two left feet; it is a chance to try a few different styles of dance and work out what is going to suit you.

It encourages creativity and self-expression, allowing individuals to communicate emotions and stories through movement. Socially, dance provides opportunities to connect with others, whether in structured classes, informal gatherings, or performances. This interaction can build confidence and a sense of community, as well as being a great learning exercise.

Moreover, dance is deeply rooted in cultural traditions and artistic heritage, offering a meaningful way to explore and appreciate diverse histories and identities.

AGRICULTURE

Gates, Gravel and Earthworks

The region is fortunate to have a robust network of agricultural and horticultural contractors.

In addition to these generalists, there is a growing number of specialist operators who focus on niche services such as tree stump removal, hay and silage made and stored, dam reconstruction, retaining wall construction, gate manufacturing and bespoke landscaping projects.

Whether the work is rural or urban, contractors are equipped with an extensive range of machinery tailored to every scale and scope of operation. From large-scale equipment like diggers, graders, bulldozers, loaders, and trucks to compact tools such as bobcats, post hole borers, and forklifts, local operators are well-prepared to meet diverse project requirements. Their capabilities extend to civil engineering, roading, excavation, earthmoving, and even logging operations.

Supporting these contractors are machinery hire companies and suppliers of aggregate, gravel, and topsoil, essential resources for both major developments and residential garden renovations.

The pride these professionals take in their work is evident in the quality of their results, a testament to the value of engaging experienced contractors for your agricultural, horticultural or even small landscaping job.

Trucking

New Zealand's truck drivers play a vital role in keeping food and goods moving across the country.

While there are four primary modes of transport, road, rail, air, and water, each comes with its own challenges. One common factor among them all is the need for skilled and dedicated staff.

As the population grows and urbanisation increases, so too does the demand for goods and services that rely on road transport. Changing consumer habits have also led to a rise in the use of delivery vans, further highlighting the importance of road freight.

Whether transporting food, livestock, or manufactured products, truck drivers are essential to the smooth operation of the supply chain. Operating large vehicles requires more than just driving skills. These professionals must master the art of reversing with trailers, handle goods safely, and maintain a high level of physical fitness. It's a demanding job that requires both expertise and resilience.

Containers

Shipping containers have surged in popularity due to their durability and versatility.

Constructed from Corten steel, also known as weathering steel, these containers are built to endure long, treacherous sea voyages. Their rugged design includes corrugated wall panels, a reinforced frame, cargo doors, and metal cross members, making them exceptionally resilient.

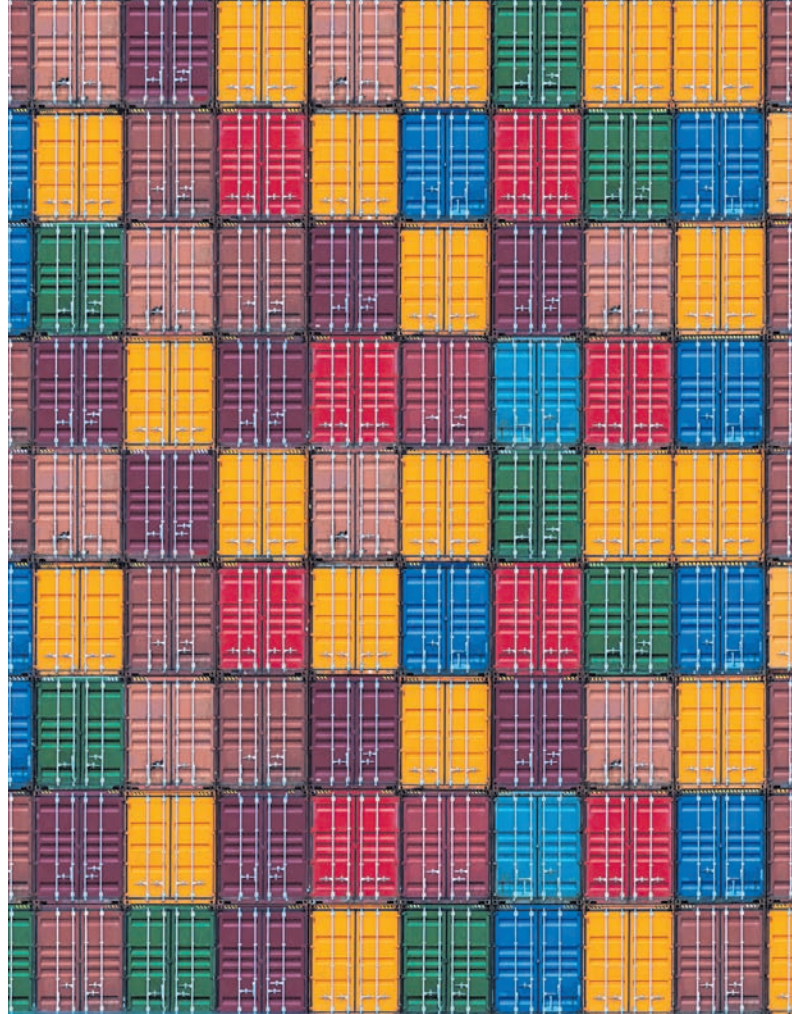

Today, containers are being repurposed in innovative ways. They are transformed into homes, coffee shops, pop-up venues, and on-site storage units. Increasingly, they are used as sleepouts, tiny homes, and even as offices or studios for those working remotely. Their adaptability makes them a practical solution for a wide range of needs.

Available in sizes ranging from 10 to 40 feet, containers offer flexibility to suit various situations. Most suppliers are open to discussing custom ideas and often provide visual examples of redesigned containers to help inspire new possibilities.

Beyond traditional uses, containers can be converted into swimming pools, exhibition spaces, or even glasshouses. Their potential is limited only by imagination. On farms, they provide excellent storage for horse tack and other equipment, solving space constraints efficiently.

For those considering off grid living or simply in need of additional storage, exploring options with a local container supplier could be a smart and creative solution.

Plumbing Problems? Call in the Pros!

DIY Disaster Alert

You are handy around the house and you've watched a few YouTube videos, got your toolbox ready, and think, "How hard can it be?"

I have heard this phrase so many times from both men and women!

But when it comes to plumbing in New Zealand, most of it is what's called "restricted work." That means it's actually illegal to DIY your plumbing, gas fitting, or drain laying. Why? Because one wrong move could lead to leaks, contamination, gas hazards, or a very unhappy insurance company.

So, when the pipes start to gurgle or that tap won't stop dripping, do yourself a favour: call a pro.

When you hire a Master Plumber, you're not just getting a plumber — you're getting peace of mind.

Master Plumbers members have certifying tradespeople on their team, the top qualification in the industry. These are the folks who make sure every job is done safely, legally, and expertly.

And it's not just about fixing leaks. Master Plumbers can help with everything from:

Bathroom renovations, gas heating and hot water, solar installations, as well as drainage and home water systems.

If it involves water, gas, or pipes, they've got you covered.

From leaky taps to full bathroom makeovers, plumbing is one job best left to the experts. So next time you hear that telltale drip-drip-drip, skip the wrench and call a Master Plumber. Because when the water's running right, life just flows better.
